

Melrose, Mass., Feb. 9th /74
William Lloyd Garrison, -

My Dear Sir, - I see by your letter to Mr. Denton that you have received but two volumes of The Soul of Things. Will you please inform me which of the series you have not received that I may send it to you? I have felt anxious that you should have them all,
and ~~had~~ supposed that all had been sent.

We do not pretend to have solved the problem suggested by our investigations of the past few years. The wonderful re-lation of mind to mind, of mind to mat-ter, and indeed of matter to matter, is only rendered more and more evident by every added experiment. But we could do no less than call the attention of the thinking world to the evidences that have convinced us of this hitherto almost unacknowledged

faculty of the human soul.

Thanking you more than words can express for the kindly ~~and~~ expressions of appreciation of our efforts, I am, as I have been from the years of my young girlhood,

Reverently Yours

Elizabeth M. F. Denton.

P.S.

Pardon my P.S., but it occurs to me that the publication of your letter might be of great service in calling attention to this subject. May I ask if you have any objection to such publication?

Again Yours &c. E. M. F. D.

Ms. A. 1. 2 v. 37, p. 96 B